The Russian, East European, and Central Asian Studies Graduate Certificate Program seeks to provide graduate and professional school students with area knowledge of the societies and cultures of the people of Eastern Europe and Eurasia, drawing on the disciplines of anthropology, communication arts, economics, folklore, geography, history, journalism, language and literature, law, political science, and sociology.

REQUIREMENTS:

1. Successfully complete 12 credits in Russian, East European, and Central Asian studies courses, distributed over three programs.
2. Demonstrate a working knowledge of one Slavic, East European, or Central Asian language; this can be fulfilled by a minimum of two years of language study, or one year of Russian in combination with another language of the region.
3. Complete one seminar with a research paper approved by the major advisor utilizing original source material.
4. Fulfill the requirements for an M.A., M.B.A., J.D., or Ph.D. degree.
5. Complete an application form and submit it, with copies of transcripts, to the CREECA graduate advisor at 210 Ingraham Hall.

The requirement for the Ph.D minor (Option A) can also be fulfilled through Russian, East European, and Central Asian studies by completing 9 graduate-level credits of REECAS courses distributed over at least 2 departments outside the major department.

For more information, course lists, and requirement details, please contact the REECAS Graduate Certificate Advisor.

Jennifer Tishler
The Center for Russia, East Europe, and Central Asia
University of Wisconsin-Madison
210 Ingraham Hall,
1155 Observatory Drive
608.262.3379
jtishler@creeca.wisc.edu
http://www.creeca.wisc.edu